

In this issue...

10

18

25

34

37

Choices, choices 10

Regular contributor Paul Buttrick explores beer processing from the end of fermentation to the bright beer tank and discovers that there are many decisions to be taken along the way.

Innovation, passion and knowledge in Derbyshire 18

Roger Putman was in hop heaven at Thornbridge in Derbyshire. With a brand new Velo brewery to play with, brewer Stefano Cossi is getting the best out of his materials.

Tiny in Southsea 25

We met Mike Charlton at the Midland Section's Big Cask Day last year. A long time home brewer, he set up commercial operations in his garage and then won the best beer in Hampshire award.

Nanotechnology – what's all the fuss 27

Campden BRI's Denise Baxter explains some of the basics of this exciting new technology but cautions that to the public it seems to have an equally bad press as genetic modification.

After the clapping dies away... 28

Tiny Rudgate Brewery near York won the 2009 Supreme Champion prize at the GBBF. The Editor visited just after the announcement to see how the kudos and extra demand would affect owner Craig Lee.

A walk on the North Norfolk coast 31

Editor Emeritus Michael Parsons writes about Alan Ruddock who used to maintain Bobby malt mills and now makes his own.

How to maintain your most important asset 34

Ian Jones from South Africa points out the ten biggest blunders in the world of people development and charts a procedure to do it properly.

The tide turns at Scapa 37

Our whisky sleuth Frank Robson visits the windswept islands of Orkney where he charts the fascinating history of Scapa Flow and the Chivas Bros distillery which overlooks it.

Beyond Copenhagen 42

Eric Candy continues the build up to UN World Environmental Day with a look at websites which help us calculate our own carbon footprints.

REGULARS

World news	2
Spot the brewery	9
IBD news	44
Marketplace	45
Business Listings	46
Recruitment	Inside back cover